CV Zuzanna Zyla

I'm multimedia design student and an aspiring frontend developer. I'm a motivated person eager to learn new things and deepen the knowledge I already have.

Education

Currently I study at UCN in a practice-base learning system heavily based on the group work. Thanks to that I do not only learn the theories but also get a chance to work with real world like cases.

The particular program I'm currently in - Multimedia Design, is divided into two main parts: Frontend development and UX/UI design. The second of which directly correlates to my previous studies in the art school I attended.

This program is an unique opportunity that allows me to take a look at the design from a completely new perspective but also introduces a completely new and interesting topic - programming.

Professional qualifications

As a multimedia designer specialising in frontend development, I'm qualified to do user research, user test and data analyse, agile development methods like prototyping, wireframing and scrum. User-cantered approach is also one of the qualifications I was taught in the program, and it helps choosing the design techniques that meets the user needs as much as the client needs.

I have a very hands on JavaScript, HTML, CSS and data management. I also have basic

Relevant project work at UCN

Due to practice based approach to learning at UCN, I had a chance to work with real clients and real cases for learning purposes. Here I selected two relevant cases I worked on.

Product catalogue for Adelino:

Adelino is small store in Aalborg that specialize in Portuguese products. Adelino has an existing web shop however Christine (the owner) wished to remake it as the current website does not covey the atmosphere of the store and is hard to navigate. Together with my teammates, we were able to create a solution for Christine that puts focus on Information Architecture and navigation design as well as UI design.

Website for Inn Gjøl:

Inn Gjøl is located by a picturesque Danish coast and attractive tourist destination. So far the restaurant used social media as the main communication channel with its customers, but the owners were looking for more effective way of connecting with customers. This case put focus on researching how does the process of looking for and choosing a restaurant looks like on the costumers side and what information should find itself on the website to make this process easier.

Work Experience

Cleaning assistant at Seaport (bowling alley)

February 2022 - ongoing
Aalborg, Denmark

As a cleaning assistant at Seaport I'm responsible not only to care for the cleanliness of the facility but also keeping track of cleaning related supplies and whether everything is in order and working condition.

My tasks included:

Cleaning the areas designed for guests.

Checking on the necessary cleaning supplies and hygienic supplies intended for costumers.

Watching out for anything that might broken or out of order.

Personal skills

Interests

In my free time I like to draw or paint, usually I use different type of media like dry pastels, acrylic paint or draw digitally

Work Experience

Tutor
2015-2021
Opole, Poland

I've been also a tutor, I tutored both with intention of filling the existing gaps in knowledge as well as adding on to an ongoing programs. The main areas I tutored in was English, high school level math and middle school level chemistry.

My tasks included:
Creating learning programs in accordance to the clients needs and knowledge level.

Preparing learning materials.

Preparing relevant test.

conducting classes according to prepared programs.

Volunteer jobs

2016 - 2021

I've done a few voluntary jobs for various organizations. Mainly DKMS (a non-profit bone marrow donor centre) during the events organized to raise awareness about cancer and bone marrow donations.

I've also been a volunteer during numerous event organized in the city I used to live in, like sport festivals and art workshops (some organized by public facilities such as libraries but also the ones organized by the art school I attended).

My tasks included:
Advertising the organization and provide information about the donations for anyone interested.

Interacting with participants of the events, providing necessary information.

Helping with organization of the events.
